Railway Ticket Office Soon to Open in Sonoma

A Southern Pacific passenger ticket office is to be opened in Sonoma in the near future, officials of the railroad announced. It is not yet known when the service will be inaugurated here.

Following a request by the chamber of commerce, the railroad made a check over the past three months, and found that the ticket offices in Santa Rosa, Napa and Petaluma had sold 156 tickets to valley residents.

Rainfall to Date Matches That of Entire '54-'55 Season As Storms Continue to Bring Record Rains to Valley Area

The rainfall so far this season now matches the average total rainfall in the valley for the past 25 years, George C. Streiff, local rainfall observer, reported this week. The seemingly endless rains so far this season now total 28.27 inches—and the full season rainfall average for the past 25 years is 28.29 inches.

In the six weeks' period of stormy weather which began last December 16, there have been but five days in which there has been no rain. This is the period from December 16 to January 15.

The first rainfall of this season took place on September 14—and since that time there have been 43 rainy days. The only comparable rainfall season occurred during the 1940-41 period, when 96 days of rain flooded the valley under a total of 52.30 inches of water.

Rainfall report No. 11, issued Tuesday by Streiff, shows:

January 12	.02
January 13	.45
January 14	2.30
JaJnuary 15	1.27
Total for Week	4.04
Total to Date	28.27
Last Year to Date	14.30
Ten Year Average	14.73

Temperature high, 56 degrees, low 43 degrees.

Except for the winter of 1940-41, this year has been one of the wettest on record—and if the rains continue through the normal wet period which extends into May, it is possible that the spectacular record of 52.30 inches may be matched.

While the heavy rains over the past weekends caused low levels to become flooded again, and the creeks to rise to near bank-full stage, the rain began to let up Sunday, and there was no serious flooding or major property damage in the valley. The normally placid Sonoma creek, however, has been raging madly along its course during the heavy storms, and has carved huge sections of land from its banks, leaving many a backyard along its course much smaller in size, and endangering many houses.

New Head Nurse Is Appointed at Local Hospital

Mrs. Donna Mathews of Glen Ellen has been appointed head nurse at the Sonoma Valley district hospital. She will take over on February 1.

Betty Sanders, present head nurse, is leaving at that time to get married.

Mrs. Mathews has been employed at the county hospital for the past 11 years, and is the evening supervisor at the hospital, according to James Moore, administrator of the local hospital.

Sonoma creek was near bank-full stage through the heart of Boyes Springs on Sunday. Notice how close the water is to the houses in the background. Here the swiftly moving stream has cut away the banks, leaving the house in the background in danger of being swept away by the waters which have torn at the creek's banks.

This view of Sonoma creek in Glen Ellen shows the tremendous soil erosion which has occurred along the banks. Notice the fence leading out over the washed-out banks, and the house in the background, perched on the very edge of the creek, its foundations all but swept away. The mass of earth at left is a portion of a gigantic slide which slithered thousands of tons of soil into the creek bed.

Frank Ziliotto, owner of Frank's Hardware which opened last week in the Castner building in Boyes Springs, and his wife Lorraine, check over some of the store's stock. Ziliotto formerly worked at the Hammond lumber company here, and Mrs. Ziliotto has been employed at the Valley Drug Store here for the past two years. While Frank's Hardware opened last week, a Grand Opening event is planned this spring, when all of the new store's stock of hardware supplies has arrived.

New Boyes Cleaning Plant to Open on March 1, Branch Planned in Glen Ellen

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Trotto will have their Valley of the Moon Cleaning plant in full operation about March 1. The new firm will be housed in the former Buck's Garage building on Highway 12.

At present equipment is being installed, partitions are being erected, and also, rental store space is being readied.

At the plant's grand opening, an open house will be held so local residents will be able to see the actual dry cleaning process in operation. The plant, the first in the valley, will boast the most modern equipment.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Trotto in the plant will be Tony Kaliwodd, whose specialty is spotting, dry cleaning operation, hat blocking, etc. Also, in conjunction with the opening of the new plant here, Mr. and Mrs. Kaliwodd are opening a branch outlet at the hotel building in Glen Ellen. It will be known as the Val-Moon cleaners, and will accomodate the north valley area. Pick up and delivery service will be available.

Mrs. Trotto, whose specialty is tailoring, reweaving, alterations and repairs, will be on hand at the plant to serve both retail and wholseale customers.

Trotto, who has many years of experience in the chemistry of dry cleaning and plant operation, said "I welcome the opportunity to serve the people of the valley, and to fully cooperate with the local cleaning shop operators.

More Blood Given By Local Workers

A total of over 330 pints of blood have been collected for the Sonoma state hospital's employee blood bank since its inception slightly over two years ago as a result of donations made at the quarterly collection at the hospital last week.

Those contributing last week were Dale Adkins, Marianne Erickson and Blanche Hunt of Eldridge; Olive Cooper of Fetters Hot Springs; Patricia Lancaster of Boyes Hot Springs; Stanley Connerly and Carolyn Miler of Petaluma; Gladys Klebe, Jahn Mack Jr., Robert M. Russell and Ernest Veilleux of Santa Rosa; and Rev. Elwood Geary, Harriet Gordon and E. M. LaFollette of Sonoma.

A plan to withdraw Kenwood from the Dunbar Union school district and annex it to the Rincon Valley school district is now under consideration, The Valley Review learned this week.

The proposed district transfer would affect about 125 of Dunbar's present enrollment of 369 students, and could result in about a 40 per cent reduction in the present assessed valuation of the Dunbar district.

The transfer proposal is being sponsored by the Kenwood Improvement club. James Fidiam is chairman of the committee studying the plan. He is working with D. O. Anderson, president of the improvement club.

A public meeting on the proposed district transfer will be held at Los Guilicos clubhouse in Kenwood Wednesday, Jan. 25, at 7:30 p. m., at which time a report will be given as to what information has already been assembled. This is an open meeting, and all interested persons are urged to attend.

Fidiam told the Valley Review the study is being made to see if the change would benefit residents of the Kenwood area.

Actually, the proposal involves four separate school districts: Dunbar, Rincon Valley, and the Sonoma Valley and Santa Rosa high school districts.

While the Dunbar district serves the Glen Ellen-Kenwood areas, the southern portion of the district is in the Sonoma Valley union high school district, and the northern portion is in the Santa Rosa high school district. At the present time Dunbar students from the Kenwood area can elect to complete the 7th and 8th grades at Dunbar, or they may attend junior high school in Santa Rosa, as the area is in both districts, and pays taxes for both. The transfer to Rincon Valley would, of course, have to meet with the approval of that district's residents.

According to Fidiam, the improvement club "is investigating the feasibility of transferring to the Rincon Valley school district." But there appear to be several conditions which must be met before any action is considered. One of the main demands will be that a school is constructed in or near Kenwood to serve students from the area. The costs involved must also be considered. Even if the change is effected, Kenwood residents would have to continue paying on already-voted Dunbar school bonds. But, by the same token, if the district transfer is effected, Kenwood residents would not have to pay on Rincon Valley bonds which have already been voted.

The recent failure of the $100,000 Dunbar school bond might be traced in part to the proposal now under study. If the bonds; had passed, Kenwood residents would have had to pay them off, even if they later transferred to the Rincon Valley school district.

Max Cunninghame, Dunbar school district superintendent, said he could make no comment on the proposed transfer. "I haven't been informed, either officially or unofficially, that the plan is being considered," he said, "but of course I do know about it." He added that no members of the Dunbar school board have been informed of the plan.

But the Rincon Valley district

Red Cross Issues Plea for Articles

At the January meeting of the North Bay coordinating council of the American Red Cross, held in Vallejo, a call was issued for donations of articles to be used by patients of two of the hospitals served by the council.

Items needed are:

Leather pieces, any size; bean bags, empty spools, cigar boxes, small pieces of material, unused valentines, unused Easter cards, and stamped material for patients to embroider.

Local householders who have any of the above items are asked to leave them at the chamber of commerc office in Sonoma, where they will be picked up by a member of the council.

Each month similar lists of needed items will be issued, so that local residents may contribute them to the Red Cross.

That big slice of the dime represents the proportion of March of Dimes funds spent in 1955 on aid to polio patients. An estimated $26,500,000 will be required in 1956 to ensure that 68,000 patients needing assistance at the turn of the year are not let down and that thousands more destined to get polio will be assured help toward recovery.

English Topic at High School Meet

The English department of the Sonoma Valley union high school met with staff members of the county schools office yesterday at the high school for a round table discussion relating to problems of reading instruction. Thomas Woods, secondary coordinator, and Lawrence Carrillo, reading supervisor from the county office, acted as consultants in the discussions.

This was the second such meeting of this group. The first meeting was held in December when the group explored the different types of reading programs possible in a high school.

Arrangements for the two meetings were made by District Superintendent John Glaese.

Drunk Teenagers Taken in Custody

Sheriff's deputies Friday night picked up a half dozen youthful teen-agers at the Boyes theater after complaints were made they were drinking and disorderly. The boys ranged from 14 to 15 years of age, Deputy Bob Hayes reported.

Investigators from the alcoholic beverage control division have been called into the case, as one of the youths reportedly stole the beer they were drinking at a local store.

County's Share of Eisenhower Budget

The 127,900 people of Sonoma county will pay an estimated $59,300,000 as their share of the $65 billion Eisenhower budget proposal for fiscal 1957, California Taxpayers' association said today.

For the 13,465,000 people of California, the tax cost of 1957 federal spending, based on the president's budget, will reach $6,244,000,000.

This means an average tax load of about $1850 for a family of four in the state—for federal spending alone, the TYaxpayers' association estimated.

More About - Kenwood School

trustees know of the plan, as does County School Superintendent DeForest Hamilton. The Rincon Valley school board met Monday night and discussed the proposal, as did the county school district organization committee, which also met Monday night.

The proposed dividing line is the line where the two high school districts border. This line runs by Morton's Warm Springs, and just north of the Dunbar school.

Cunninghame said the area involved contains about 40 per cent of the school population—about 125 students—and about 40 per cent of the district's assessed valuation—about $1,300,000.

The following statement was issued yesterday by Fidiam:

"For several years the residents of Kenwood have been considering the possibility of a separate school for the children of Kenwood. Due to the rapid growth, immediate action must be taken. On January 6 the Kenwood Improvement club voted unanimously to investigate the possibility of joining the Rincon Valley school district.

"Kenwood has a peculiar setup, being a split district. It belongs to Santa Rosa junior and senior high school districts, yet the elementary grades are in the Dunbar district. This is the cause of some confusion ,as all other areas in the district belong to the Sonoma high school district. Kenwood has enough Dunbar pupils, approximately one-third of attendance, to justify a separate and new school to take care of the rapidly climbing enrollment.

"Proceeding with their assigned task, the five-person committee appointed by the Kenwood Improvement club met with the Rincon Valley school trustees January 16 concerning the plan to join the Rincon district. After the plan was presented and discussed, Rincon trustees took the matter under advisement, and a decision will be reached later."

Hanna Center Pair Net $1300 From Television Show

The white-face bull at Hanna Boys Center is soon going to have some white-face heifers for company as the result of an appearance on last week's Groucho Marx's show, "You Bet Your Life."

Fr. Thomas F. Regan, associate director of Hanna Center, and Jerry McCray, one of the Center's boys, appeared on the program last week, and shared in a series of question answering which resulted in the pair's winning $1300. Fr. Regan and young McCray split their winnings with another person who appeared on the show with them.

After wining $440 in the first question series, they returned to win the jackpot question.

When asked what the Hanna Center representatives would do with the money they had won, young McCray told Groucho "we have a beautiful white-face bull at the Center, and now we'll be able to get some heifers to keep him company."

'Fair Share' Dues Formula Approved, Officials Report

Members of the chamber of commerce are cooperating very well with the Fair Share Formula inaugurated this year as a means of assuring fair and equitable participation of all members in their investment in the chamber of commerce, officials of the chamber announced.

Many reportedly have openly expressed the opinion that the formula is a most fair method of financial distribution of support from the smaller to the larger investors in the community.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in a recent release, stated that "most chambers have, in recent months, started the review of revaluation procedure designed to produce a sufficient amount of money for attaining chamber objectives. Concerted effort throughout the United States is being made to distribute the cost of sustaining the chamber of commerce more equitably among the members. More attention is being paid to stabilizing the organization's income to enable it to effectively and efficiently pursue a good program and administer its affairs on a sound, business-like basis."
